FAILED TO ENDORSE AMENDMENT TO BILLPREMIER HAS OBJECTIONS TO MINERS' AMENDMENT WHICH IS KILLED IN COM-MITTEE.

STRIKE IS PROLONGED

Conditions Rapidly Becoming Acute
and Prospects for Settlement Are Farther Removed.London, March 22.—The bill which the government and parliament have been considering to put a stop to one of the greatest calamities that has ever taken this country and which was read a second time in the House of Commons last night, has still to run the gauntlet of the committee stage.It is here that the miners' representatives in parliament endeavored to procure the acceptance of the amendment in regard to minimum wages.

If Miners Refuse,

If the miners refuse to return to work the government must face the necessity of taking "those and other different measures" which were foreshadowed by the Premier yesterday and which are believed to mean antiquated protection for those men desiring to return to work. Some of the large mine owners declare that it will be impossible to work if the minimum wages are granted.

Facing Starvation.

Suffering and actual starvation will face the industrial population if a settlement is not reached quickly. The funds of the trade union are running low and in some places this week's payment of out of work members will be the last.At Bardon in one of the centers of the coalfields, forty thousand meals have been served in eleven days at a small charge.

Settlement Impossible.

Enoch Edwards, labor leader of Parliament and president of the miners federation of Great Britain announced that the Premier's rejection of the miners' amendment closed the door to an immediate settlement of the strike,

Iowa Miners May Strike.

Des Moines, Ia., March 22.—The joint conference of Iowa coal-miner operators and miners assembled today to discuss the question of a new wage agreement to come into effect when the present agreement expires on April 1. The Iowa miners are independent of the negotiations that are being conducted for a new interstate agreement between the bituminous miners and operators of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana. At the same time their demands are virtually the same and it is believed that if a new interstate agreement is arrived at it will be made the basis for a similar agreement to apply to the Iowa field.
Failure to reach a satisfactory agreement by the end of this month probably will be followed by a general strike of the Iowa miners.

Premier Opposes.

The house had just entered on the committee stage of the minimum wage bill when the miners' amendment was moved and Premier Asquith announced the gravity of which was immediately recognized because it is practically certain to bring about another deadlock, caused a sensation among the members.In opposing the miners' amendment the Premier said he thought the figures were reasonable ones, but that it was most undesirable to insert in the bill any specific wage or to establish the precedent of fixing the rate of wages by act of parliament.It would, he pointed out, be peculiarily dangerous to the men themselves, because if parliament once expressed its judgment that $1.25 was a fair minimum wage, that sum would be bound to be created as the maximum.Enoch Edwards, the miners' leader, declared the decision announced by the Premier has shattered his hopes that the final form of the bill would concern itself to the good sense of both sides.

Settlement Closed.

The refusal of the amendment meant the closure of the door which yesterday appeared open. Andrew Bonar Law, the official leader of the opposition, sided with the government and he said, could not have taken any other course.

To Secure Compromise.

It is evident that the government is sanguine of securing a compromise in the coal dispute and on passing the wage bill through all the stages of the house of commons tonight as the house of lords has been summoned to meet at 11:30. The object of the meeting tonight of the upper house is to pass the first reading of the bill so that it can be completed tomorrow and obtain the royal assent.GIRL ENDS LIFE BY DRINKING QUANTITY OF CARBOLIC ACID.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Appleton, Wis., March 22.—Leaving a note in which she said, "I hope that this act of mine will enable my mother to come too and see what she had caused me to do," Mary Vanderlinde committed suicide by drinking a quantity of carbolic acid. The girl was 16 years old and had been working for the last ten months for a family here and was always known as a bright and cheerful girl. Fifteen minutes before she committed suicide she was laughing and joking with her people. The bitter reference to her mother in which she says she hopes her mother from this time on will treat all her sisters better and not like strangers to puzzled relatives. They have always been very intimate and on friendly terms and no reason can be assigned for the act.TEMPERATURE FALLS BELOW

Hearing of Iowa Rates

Washington, D. C., March 22.—The so-called Iowa rate cases which have been pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission for a long time, came up for hearing today before that body. The complaints were filed against several of the large railroads by the state of Iowa and commercial organizations of Cedar Rapids, Fort Dodge and several other cities. The complainants allege that the present freight rates on interstate shipments to and from Iowa points are unjust and unreasonable as compared with the rates existing in other sections of the country.

Fight for Missouri Governorship Jefferson City, Mo., March 22.—What promises to be the hottest gubernatorial battle that Missouri Democrats have waged in years will be joined in earnest tomorrow, when Elliott W. Major, attorney general, will formally open his campaign for the nomination for governor in an address before the "Major for Governor" club, Do Soto, Major ploughing

Democratic ticket. He has already formed strong political alliances in every county, his friends say, and they believe he will be able to win the fight.

Major will be opposed by Senator

Stone and practically all of the old machinery leaders. The latter have picked Congressman William S. Cowherd of Kansas City as their choice for governor. Cowherd was the Democratic nominee in 1908, but was defeated by Governor Hadley.

John Mitchell, Charles P. Nell, commodore of labor, and half a score of others urged the passage of the Hughes-Borah industrial compensation bill before the house committee on labor today. The bill would provide a federal commission to study the industrial situation in the United States and other countries and within three years recommend legislation.Mr. Mitchell warmly endorsed the bill. He said he did not favor compulsory arbitration and did not regard the Borah bill in that light. It is the next step necessary in obtaining a just industrial peace, said Mitchell.Commodore of Labor Nell said the bill would give the government opportunities in labor disputes which the bureau of labor does not now possess.President Taft was today advised by several Pennsylvania members of the house to lend his influence to the health agencies into a "United States Public Health Service" supervised by posed in a bill introduced today by would create in the treasury the office

health.After an hour's session the house adjourned today out of respect to the memory of Representative Foster of Vermont, who died yesterday.

President Taft in Conference With Cabinet Today on Matter of Contraband Goods.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, March 22.—President Taft and his cabinet today considered the question whether food, clothing and dynamite are munitions of war within the meaning of the President's proclamation prohibiting the exportation of all war material to Mexico.The puzzling questions regarding food and clothing was raised by customs officials along the southern border and by merchants in El Paso and other border towns. The army has held up about 80,000 pounds of dynamite in Mexico and the government is being appealed for settling concerns in Mexico and to not interfere with transit of explosives intended for industry.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS BOARD ASKS FOR INFORMATION. Write City Clerk R. M. Cummings for Amount of Taxes Levied in Years 1890, 1900 and 1910.

Robert C. Campbell, secretary of the Wisconsin State Board of Public Affairs has written City Clerk R. M. Cummings asking for a statement showing the total taxes levied in the city of Janesville in the years 1890, 1900 and 1910; also the total expenditures of the city for the same periods.

The taxes for these years, which give a graphic idea of the growth of the levy in two decades were 1890, $67,400; 1900, $82,125; 1910, $135,568.05. As these were all expended in the years for which they were levied, no separate specification of the expenditures was necessary. George W. Huntington, city clerk of Kenosha, has requested information as to the amount of the bond required of the city treasurer, whether the surety is furnished by a company or an individual and whether the city's money was deposited in one or more banks.

Easy Method of Killing Feline. For a felon take common rock salt, as used for salting down pork or beef, dry in an oven, then pound it fine and mix with spirits of turpentine in equal parts, put it in a rag and wrap it around the parts affected. As it gets dry put on more, and in 24 hours you are cured, says a writer.

Taking advantage of this moment Zigmor escapes from his guards, turns a stone, a secret he alone knows, and escapes. The detective follows to the crypt, where Zigmor takes a dynamite cartridge from a hole and blows up the crypt.

The party is now climbing the snowy mountain peaks of Switzerland, and Zigmor, identified by the detective, is captured on the brink of a precipice. He takes advantage of a narrow pass, throws his enemy into the abyss, and escapes by leaping over the glaciers. The detective slips to a ledge, and hangs on the edge of a precipice. He is found there.

SCIENTISTS DO NOT AGREE

Divide into Two Camps on the Question of History of the Earliest Known Americans.

"How long were the ruins of the southwest inhabited?" and "how dense was the population in ancient times?" Some of the best archeologists have strongly insisted that appearances are deceiving. The hundreds, and indeed thousands, of sites of ancient villages in Colorado, the Texan Panhandle, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona, as well as in similar parts of northern Mexico, were not all inhabited at one time, as they tell us. Most represent more temporary stopping places where migratory bands of a people supposed to have been ancestors of the Indians settled for a few years and then moved on. At the outside limit, say these archeologists, the entire population never amounted to more than a few score thousands, whose civilization was of the lowest and most insignificant type. Other students, fewer in number than the orthodox school, hold that the majority of the ruins were all occupied at the same time and for century after century. They say that the population of the arid southwest must have amounted to many hundred thousands—decidedly more in all probability than the country supports today. Furthermore, if this were so, although the type of civilization may have been most primitive compared with ours, yet it was, by no means so low as that of the modern Indians. It must have been of the same grade as that of early Babylonians, Egypt, Palestine or Greece before the art of writing was invented. People who could dwell peacefully for centuries in large, permanent communities, and could build great communal houses and long systems of canals, were by no means untutored savages. Civil order and submission to the will of the majority must have been as well developed among them as among us. Such a view leads one to believe that, if only we could trace it, the history of the primitive Americans would prove quite as interesting, and to us possibly more interesting than that of the early oriental peoples to whom our scholars devote so much time and our millionaires so much money.—Harper's.

SPORTVICTORY TO LOCALS
OVER FT. ATKINSON

Win First Game In Colot Tournament 27 to 8—Matched With Fast Elkhorn Team Today.

Defeated by a narrow margin in the debate at Elkhorn last night was somewhat retreived by the decisive victory which was won by the local high school basketball team in the first game of the Holst tournament played with the Fort Atkinson five last evening. At no time did the Fort aggression show winning form and the score was 27 to 8.

Elkhorn, with whom the local team lined up this afternoon in the semi-finals, won their first game from Kenosha yesterday by a 24 to 15 score and Kenosha defeated Fort Atkinson 27 to 4. Elkhorn found Lake Geneva easy and rolled in a score of 51 to 9.

In the Janesville-Fort game the local players proved superior in basket-throwing and were able to score almost at will. Janesville's guards did some good work and prevented the Fort afterwards from scoring, at the same time advancing the ball to Korat and Cunningham, who were sure to score.

The first half ended 15 to 3 in favor of Janesville and in the second half the Fort was credited with but five more points, while the local team bettered their score by 12. Wilkerson and French replaced Hemming and Edler in this half. The score was as follows:

THE FANS ARE READY

National and American League's List of Games for Coming Season Can be Obtained at the Gazette Office Free.

Knowing the interest the local baseball fans take in the National and American league games during the season, the Gazette has printed the official schedules of the two leagues on a card suitable for ready reference during the coming base ball months. These cards can be obtained free by calling at the Editorial rooms of the Gazette office. They are handy things to have around when a discussion comes up regarding dates that certain games are played and the schedules are so arranged that the games in the different cities are all in order and easily found. The Gazette has also made arrangements to receive the ball scores each afternoon and will post them in the window on the bulletin boards.

Mrs. Ollie James, wife of the newly-elected Senator from Kentucky, who came to Washington briefly soon after her husband first took his seat in Congress about eight years ago. Until this year she has boarded in Washington, but now have started housekeeping in one of the big fashionable apartment houses. She says that since they have established their home that she has learned more about the high price of living in a practical way than years of reading or hearing others complain of it has conveyed. She is much interested in the problem and says that she is appalled at the meager quantity of food that she is able to buy with a dollar.

March 22, 1912.—High atmospheric pressures prevail over the central states, and are attended by generally fair weather, with low temperatures. Zoro was reached during the night in Nebraska, Ontario, and Saskatchewan, or rain, according to the latitude and altitude. The barometer is low over Nova Scotia, off the coast of North Carolina, in Arizona, and in the Canadian Northwest. These barometric depressions are attended by cloudiness in their respective localities, with snow, or rain, according to the latitude and altitude.

For this vicinity the indications are that the weather will be fair tonight and Saturday, but that unsettled weather will set in by Saturday night.

The temperature will rise both tonight and Saturday.

Western Canada
the Land of Opportunity

Opportunity for what?

To secure a cheap farm and make you a home of your own, and that, in a very short time commensurate with the amount of capital you are able to start with and the extent of the wise and industrious application you use in the undertaking. A man of limited means can easily get started and each year will find the right man advancing in leaps and bounds.

We believe also that nowhere will you find better opportunity for Sound Investment, in land that is increasing and must continue to increase in value for many years. That is the history of the development of good agricultural land the world over.

The location of this district is in the Dauphin Lake District, in the Province of Manitoba approximately 160 miles northwest of the city of Winnipeg. So the farmer here has but a low freight rate to pay on his products that he sells. The district undoubtedly is destined to rank in the forefront of the truly wonderful development in this LAST GREAT WEST. The enormous increasing demand for these lands must of necessity force prices to at least their producing value and it is clearly evident prices are now away far below that now. These are the inducing features of this district:

Exceedingly rich soil.
Good transportation facilities.
Artesian water at from 40 ft. to 110 ft.
Abundant rainfall.

No fear of early frost.
The best average production of all the west.
Cheap lumber and cheap fuel.
Good schools and churches.

Good social conditions.
Communicate with us and investigate for yourself the strength of these statements. We will be making trips there all summer with land seekers and we want you to go along with us. The fare will be reduced and you will be well repaid for your attention.

Correct Spring Styles in Suits and Coats

Because a woman loves variety, we have bent our energies to make our show of Spring Suits and Coats comprehensive—One that would embrace an unusually large number of styles. The many new Spring Styles in Suits and Coats are so charming in their individual points of attractiveness that every woman may select a mode that meets her personal approval. One can not suppose for an instant that a business house with its reputation at stake would offer advanced spring styles in women's apparel that they would have to deny later in the season. We simply wouldn't dare do it; neither would it be good judgment to limit the variety or confine it to a scant showing of a few from the many authoritative models which, up to now are much more largely in evidence than at any spring season of the past.

Suits from $12.00 to $50.00
Coats from $ 9.00 to $50.00

Gowns and Dresses

This season brings out many new materials and a demand for abundant trimmings. For Evening, Theater and Party wear, we display perfectly wonderful creations in satins, chiffons over silk taffetas, foulards, satin mouselines, and beautiful changeable silks. Many styles to select from; prices range from $12 to $40.

SELECT A GARMENT NOW, from our wonderful variety, make a payment on it and the balance as you can. Not so busy in the alteration department as we will be later. The best time to buy. Be wise.

WHAT A STRIKE WILL MEAN.

"Should both the anthracite and bituminous operators and miners fail to reach an agreement by April 1 the largest industrial suspension in the history of the country will be precipitated," says the Coal Ore. "The anthracite and most of the bituminous agreements expire simultaneously at this time, and approximately half a million men will be immediately affected. Through the curtailment in fuel supplies, and consequent restriction of operations at steam plants generally throughout the country, more than twice this number of men will be indirectly affected in a comparatively short time.

If the labor leaders control the situation to the extent they claim, and there are no reasonable grounds for belief to the contrary, 64.5 per cent of the productive capacity of the country would be affected. In this estimate is included the entire state of Pennsylvania, with the exception of the Connellsville region, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and the Southwest district, including Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. The central district of Pennsylvania and the state of Iowa are not in the tri-state agreement, and while the former may possibly reach an independent settlement and continue at work, the latter will doubtless be governed by the results of the tri-state convention.

"Of the remaining 35.5 per cent unaffected by the strike, only 23.6 may be regarded as accessible to the markets supplied by the union mines. This includes the Connellsville district, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Maryland. In event of urgent demand, some of the Alabama fuel might reach portions of the affected area, but with its total production of only 3.8 per cent the amount would be negligible. The Rocky Mountain States, with their production of 5.7 per cent of the country's total, may be regarded as too remote to offer any relief to a shortage in the Eastern markets.

"The possibilities of obtaining supplies from foreign countries are nil. With the British miners out, and the German production seriously curtailed, the European stocks are being depleted, and in any event, sufficient coal could not be transported from these markets to be of material assistance. Local points along the north Atlantic coast will no doubt obtain some relief from Nova Scotia, but with the entire Canadian production equal to only 2 per cent that of the United States, this will not affect the situation in general.

"From this summary it seems fair to assume, as stated, that only 23.6 per cent of our productive capacity will be available to supply markets with a consumption of 64.5 per cent. Nor can this 23.6 per cent be regarded as surplus coal since there must already be a natural consumption for it, and only the over-production will be free for use in other markets. In view of the well known and deplorable conditions existing in West Virginia as a direct result of over-production, and the extensive developments recently inaugurated in the Kentucky fields, we venture to assume that, under pressure, this 23.6 per cent output may be doubled, leaving that amount available for other markets, and reducing our total fuel shortage to 40.9 per cent. What the effect of a forced reduction in fuel consumption of 40 per cent will be on the industrial world remains to be seen.

"From a monetary standpoint, the possibilities are even more alarming. For each working day our fuel production is curtailed 40 per cent the miners will sustain a loss in wages of eight hundred thousand dollars. On the same basis the value of the product at the mine per working day is one million two hundred thousand dollars. This is the real loss which the industry will sustain if a suspension occurs.

"It is not within the scope of this journal to pass judgment on the comparative merits of the issues under contention. But it is within our province to urge upon the contending principals the grave responsibility of their position and the national importance of their deliberations. Labor has learned an important lesson from syndicated capital with its interlocking directorates, alliances, etc.—and has, in fact, become syndicated labor, with a latent but powerful of passivity no longer denied. And between labor and capital there is a third, and entirely helpless and innocent party, who must eventually pay the enormous bill—the public.

"In conclusion, we wish to express the belief that a national coal strike in this country is unlikely. Work in either the anthracite or the bituminous field may be suspended, but the chances of a shut-down in both branches of the industry are remote. The hard-coal operators will never consent to the check-off system demanded by the miners, and for this and other reasons, it is probable the chief trouble will take place in the anthracite districts."

There is a deal of figuring on the possible vote of the various candidates for city offices at the coming April election. It is suggested that those interested should also be sure and select the men they consider best fitted for the positions.

Do not forget that on April second you vote for delegates to the national republican convention in Chicago and also for the delegates to the democratic gathering at Baltimore. The men on the Taft ticket are deserving of your consideration.

No matter what the Roosevelt managers say they are badly hurt by the result of the North Dakota primary. They double-crossed La Follette and basely deserted him, and then got a taste of their own medicine.

In this cold northern winter do not forget that Secretary of State Knox is spreading sunshine and dollar diplomacy throughout the Latin-American republics and basking in the glorious sunshine.

The coming session of the legislature can gain a niche in the hall of fame if it will only take off the saddle bags of complex legislation and permit Wisconsin to really take the place it deserves among states.

On Tuesday, April 2nd, the voters should not forget that they also elect a Judge for the circuit court and also a municipal Judge for the Beloit court.

It is moved and seconded that the rest of the present winter be adjourned until some late date and that old King Frost resign his Dic.

Roosevelt's hat is in the ring, but La Follette is marking rings around the hat all right, while Taft sits back and smiles at the whole show.

The New Mexico legislature evidently had taken a few lessons in the high art of finance before they were elected to office.

This sort of weather is most disheartening to the moth-ball trust and their supply of sure-kill-the-moth combinations.

In addition to keeping the sidewalks clean it is suggested that property-owners prepare for the spring frost.

The eight years of investigation of the great meat trust is over and the jury is now about to decide what is what.

Great Britain would take the coal situation over there by the horns only if it does not like the looks of the horns.

The Chinese women have obtained equal suffrage and not even a widow was broken or a speech made.

That Virginia recall of the judiciary is not popular even in the old Dominion state it would appear.

If these be the bright and joyous days of spring then what will the summer days be like?

Let it be recorded that no one tried to shoot out the lights at the first Arizona legislature.

PRESS COMMENT.

Get There, Teddy! Col. Roosevelt has announced that he will take the stump. It was high time.

Things seem to be going to the dogs with his third term candidacy.

But if he takes the stump and openly goes out and hollers for votes, what becomes of his dignified pose as the indispensable man who bows reluctantly to destiny and is swept to offend on the crest of a surge of resolute popular demand?

The tidal wave theory seems to be rather petering out. The "seven little governors" and the coterie of colicky gentlemen who represent an anti-Taft grudge do not constitute anything of a tidal nature. Things are

THE EASTER HAT.

This is but a little bonnet. On the subject of a bonnet. Of a bonnet in the very latest style. Wife puts in the world creation. With the joyous exclamation: "Now I guess that this will hold 'em for a while."

It conceals most every feature. Of the proud and happy creature. It resembles an inverted butter bowl. And there is no way of knowing if she's coming or she's going. It's the same before and after upon my soul.

Six or seven folks could hover from the storm beneath its cover. For an army tent it surely would suffice.

It's a large and roomy bonnet, but the worst of all, doggone it, is that there is nothing small about the price.

TIME TABLE OF A CONGRESSMAN.

The life of a Congressman is not all duck soup and lilies of the valley. The people at home may think so, but the people at home are laboring under a delusion. The following was the time-table of one of the Congressmen along about the middle of February.

6 a.m.—Breakfast.
7:15 to 9—Reading letters from constituents who wanted something for nothing.

9 to 11:30—Dictating diplomatic replies and rogetes.

11:30 to 12—Conferences with twenty district political leaders, all of whom have journeyed to Washington to land one job for twenty different men.

12 to 12:02—Attends Congress.
12:02 to 12:17—Luncheon in the house restaurant with said district leaders.

looking a little dark for the colonel's bonnet.

Perhaps he would save his face and forestall impending discomfiture by conserving what little there is left of his pose of the man who doesn't want it, but will take it if he must, and remain off the stump.

Beloit's Viewpoint.

Beloit Free Press: Janesville seems to have done itself proud with its first primary under the combination and the election of a fine type of man to rule the city is assured. Mr. Fathers for discomfited the field in the mayoralty race and his election is a foregone conclusion. All of the four men nominated for the council represent the best element in the city and any two of them will be acceptable. Game rule will reign for a few years at least in the Bower City. Fortunately Beloit has not had the same reason up to the combination form, but if the time should come, no better results could be had than have been obtained so far in Janesville.

The Style in Skirts.

Rockford Register-Gazette: After what the world has been treated to in skirts almost any prediction is to be looked on as within the possibilities. The next is to be a split skirt, open on each side to the knee, the wearer being also clad in direcute stockings, of large open meshes. No one can prudently say that it is incredible or that it will not find a large following.

On Tuesday, April 2nd, the voters should not forget that they also elect a Judge for the circuit court and also a municipal Judge for the Beloit court.

It is moved and seconded that the rest of the present winter be adjourned until some late date and that old King Frost resign his Dic.

MILWAUKEE'S FIRE

Years Ago—Recalls Old Times.

Old timers remember when the O. C. Ford mill on the old race and did a flourishing business and some recall the days when the present Chief of the Milwaukee Fire Department worked in the mill and was a resident of Janesville. At any rate Chief Clancy of Milwaukee has not forgotten his residence in Janesville and recalls it with pleasure. Alderman Geo. O. Buchholz was a Cream City visitor Thursday and called on the veteran fire fighter to pay his respects and congratulate him on having defeated his socialistic enemies who had him removed from office last fall and then been forced to reinstate him by the court. Mr. Clancy talked with Mr. Buchholz about Janesville and the years he spent here and was interested to learn of the city's progress.

ICE OUT OF RIVER NEAR INDIAN FORD

Water Rising and Ten Inches Over Dam.—Open Up at Fulton, But Subdues—Danger From Ice Floes.

Ice has gone out of the Rock river for nearly half a mile above the Indian Ford dam and the water has raised to ten inches over the crest. There is also a heavy back water below the dam caused by the ice. The Yahara river raised suddenly at Fulton early in the week, but subsided after the ice in the lower part of its course had broken up. The ice that went out was two feet thick and is a good index of the thickness of that in the other streams which is much greater than it was last year.

No movement has taken place in the ice above the Janesville Electric company's dam in this city and the water is low, standing but four and a half inches over the government mark. The jams in the upper river are responsible for this condition, but a sudden rise may be anticipated when these break. Two days of warm weather would probably start the ice moving. This, coupled with the fact that the upper courses of the river opened first, would threaten unusual high water at this point. No reports of floods in the valley of the Rock have yet been reported.

To the Memory of William T. Pomeroy.

It was with deep sorrow and a sense of personal loss when the news reached me of the death of William T. Pomeroy. To be numbered among his friends (and they were legion) was certainly a great privilege. He possessed a kind and sympathetic nature, which was so manifest in the loving care and devotion to his invalid wife, who was helpless so long before her death. Never of robust health himself he bore his own suffering with patience, always ready to offer sympathy and render such assistance as he was able to any who were in sorrow or in need. A man slow to anger his life was an open book—nothing hidden; always upright and honest. In all his dealings he believed in the principles of the Golden Rule, and was frank and outspoken against all that was deceitful and degrading.

He was a firm believer in the saying and looked forward with pleasure to the time when he should join his loved ones, who had gone on before, in the Father's house—"a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." Truly it can be said of him that he was one of God's noblemen. We shall miss his kindly face and pleasant smile of greeting when we return to Janesville.

A long and useful life is ended—a life we shall remember always with respect and admiration. In our garden of Beautiful Thoughts we place another treasured flower. "A blessed memory be a wonderful possession."

March 10th, 1912. Fred P. Grove, Boulder, Colorado.

Instruction vs. Education.

Our great mistake in education is, as it seems to me, the worship of book learning—the confusion of instruction and education. We strain the memory instead of cultivating the mind. The children in our elementary schools are wearied by the mechanical act of writing and the interminable intricacies of spelling; they are oppressed by columns of dates, by lists of kings and places, which convey no definite idea to their minds, and have no near relation to their daily wants and occupations.—Sir John Lubbock.

His Changing Moods.

A man of moods is the German workman, who, after dancing until three o'clock the other morning at a wedding at Landeshut, went out into the garden and hanged himself. He was discovered unconscious, and as soon as he was released he returned to the party and resumed dancing.

Imagination a Necessity.

The proper feeding of the body is necessary in order that life may be possible; but the imagination should be stimulated in order to make life worth living.—Duchess of Sutherland.

Imagination a Necessity.

The proper feeding of the body is necessary in order that life may be possible; but the imagination should be stimulated in order to make life worth living.—Duchess of Sutherland.

Instruction vs. Education.

Our great mistake in education is, as it seems to me, the worship of book learning—the confusion of instruction and education. We strain the memory instead of cultivating the mind. The children in our elementary schools are wearied by the mechanical act of writing and the interminable intricacies of spelling; they are oppressed by columns of dates, by lists of kings and places, which convey no definite idea to their minds, and have no near relation to their daily wants and occupations.—Sir John Lubbock.

His Changing Moods.

A man of moods is the German workman, who, after dancing until three o'clock the other morning at a wedding at Landeshut, went out into the garden and hanged himself. He was discovered unconscious, and as soon as he was released he returned to the party and resumed dancing.

Unique Example of Thrift.

By dint of extraordinary saving an octogenarian woman named Enzler, who has just died in South Germany, has achieved a record. The woman, the widow of a railway station master, had been blind since her thirty-eighth year. Many years ago she arranged with her housekeeper that they should between them spend only twenty cents a day for all their requirements. The woman's will has now revealed an estate of $125,000.

Worthy Suggestion.

Whatever may your faith—and every man, even so-called, indulges to have a belief of some kind—I wish to make one suggestion: Keep it secret! Few assured that if your belief makes you abashed and pugnacious, or critical, or irascible, then it is bad. No matter what your creed is it ought to bring forth the one flower that makes any creed worth while, and that is availability.

WOMAN'S PAGE

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Earning Money at Home.

ANY woman has at some time, in her adventurous career, re-upholstered an old chair, re-covered an old sofa, or done some work of this sort, to her utmost satisfaction. Some women have a knack for such work, and the woman who has, can turn it to the making of an extra dollar or two, for herself.

If she will let it be known among her friends and neighbors that she will do work of this kind, she will undoubtedly get many orders. And if her work is satisfactory and her charges moderate, news of what she is doing, will soon spread and her business will increase. For, in almost every home are pieces of furniture the worse for wear. But the housewife thinks it will cost too much to fix them up, or else lets the weeks slip by while she is mulling up her mind to hunt up an upholsterer, or send them to a store.

If now, a trustworthy woman is at hand who will relieve the housekeeper of all this bother, who may be able to use material on hand, or who will buy economically, if necessary, she would undoubtedly get many such an odd-job. A woman as a rule is more used to economizing than a man, and, if expense must be considered, she is more likely to suggest ways to recover the furniture inexpensively than a man. She would be more willing to pinch and save. And for this very reason, many a housewife would give such a piece of work to a woman, whom she would not turn to a regular upholsterer.

Then, a woman who undertook this kind of business could consult with her customers as to any piece of furniture they might want, and then she could attend auction sales, pick up for a small price the article in question, no matter how shabby and worn it might be, fix it up and sell it at a profit to herself, and yet for much less than what the customer would have to pay for it in the shops.

Then again, the woman who did such work could make window-seat upholsteries for the housewife who had no knack for doing such things herself, and could not afford the prices of the professional interior decorator. She could make also dainty bedroom sets of bedspread, bureau, stand cover, or whatever might be wanted. If she would study stenciling, and it is not difficult to learn, she could make many dainty, artistic things for the home, which many a beauty-loving home woman would be only too glad to get, but whose cost in the shops is beyond her purse.

Such work will open out in many ways for the woman who likes it and who puts her mind upon it. And as in almost every home, there is work of this kind waiting to be done, if it does not cost too much, there is a field of work ripe for harvesting.

THE KISMET SPRING HAT.

The latest fashion fad is to photograph in the mirror, and thus bring out all sides of an attractive hat. An Eastern play running in New York is responsible for this style. It has the turban effect, built high in front, with rows and the long stalks of the sprays of smaller flowers drooping over the back.

PAPER BAG DISHES.

For those who delight in the flavor of fish, there is no more agreeable way of serving them than when cooked in paper bag. The bag must not be an ordinary, but one made for the purpose of the tough fiber paper especially prepared for such cooking.

One might have a paper supper, paper table cover or doilies and napkins, paper candlesticks and shades, paper favors and paper flowers for decoration. This would be especially appropriate for a paper wedding anniversary.

The cocktail may be served in tiny paper bags torn open to show their contents, the salad in paper cases and the meat and fish in individual bags, piping hot, or a larger bag with the whole serving on a platter.

Ham, seasoned with tomato, lemon juice and butter will come out after fifteen minutes in a hot oven, swimming in its own juices and most delicious to the taste.

Apple dumplings baked in a paper bag are elevated from a common dish to creation. Served with a sauce made of half a cup of softened butter, a cup of powdered sugar, a teaspoon of vanilla and half a cup of whipped cream, if it is handy, will be ambrosia fit for the goddess.

Balsbury Steaks.—Put round steak three times through the meat chopper, to have it well cut; mix with melted butter, salt and lemon juice, using one's own taste in regard to the amount used and depending upon the amount of meat. Pat out into long flat cakes and put into a well-greased paper bag to bake just ten minutes in a hot oven. Serve with baked potatoes.

Green bananas unpeeled, adding a little water to the bag, will bake nicely in twenty to twenty-five minutes and are a delicious accompaniment to the steaks with a little lemon and melted butter poured over them.

When baking small piles of meat or biscuits, a griddle cake turner is an indispensable utensil in putting things into the bags for cooking.

CURIOS BITS OF HISTORY

THE KING OF BELLS.

By A. W. MACY.

The King of Bells, so called because it is the largest one in the world, has always been as silent as the grave, for it was broken in the casting, and was never even placed in position. It is the great Tsar Kolokol, at Moscow. It was cast in 1733. It is about 19 feet high and the same in diameter. Its weight is estimated at 440,000 pounds. Forty average-sized people can stand inside it at the same time. The material composing it has been valued at $330,000. In 1737 it was somewhat injured by fire, and it remained partly buried in the ground for nearly a hundred years. In 1830, under the direction of Emperor Nicholas, it was raised out of the ground, and it now constitutes the dome of a chapel formed by excavating the earth beneath it.

CHANGING FROM HEAVY NOON MEAL.

A high school principal who found himself drowsy and unable to concentrate his attention in the afternoon because he ate a substantial mixed meal at noon was advised to take his principal meal in the evening and to eat only rice with cream at noon. The lazzitude and mental sluggishness disappeared, but he was troubled by hunger with two hours after eating and his attention was too much distract ed to eating. Vitality can not be used at once for digestion and elimination of heavy foods and for intellectual work. But if the habit of using too much energy for almentation is long established, it can be changed only with some difficulty and much patience. Changes in diet or in any other fundamental habit should be made gradually.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

I SNT it a queer quirk in us that while we women complain because there is a double standard of morality for men and women, it is we ourselves who have done the most to raise and sustain it?

It is we who shut our eyes with noble forbearance upon any unfortunate "little peccadillo" on the part of the other sex, if the sinner be sufficiently interesting and well off. It is we who are willing—nay, sometimes eager—to have the man with a past for a husband for our innocent young daughter—we who are glad to get that fascinating man with the most unscrupulous reputation as a guest for our functions.

And, on the other hand, it is we who willingly bear every cruel bit of gossip against the members of our own sex, who are even ready to do our sisters the benefit of the doubt, and to condemn them utterly for one sin, no matter how great the temptation to which they have yielded. It is we who have made the old law that a woman who has once fallen may never "come back." Praises be to this age of forbearance that this law is no longer so binding as it once was, but it is women who made it, and women who are still trying to enforce it.

A woman was speaking to me the other day about a home which had been broken up by the husband's devotion to an unmarried woman. "I think a girl who goes after a man like that is inexcusable," she said.

"Do you think such affairs are always the woman's fault?" I questioned.

"Yes, I think they usually are," she answered.

As a business woman, I have seen more or less of such affairs, and my experience has certainly not been that they were usually the woman's fault.

Mind you, I don't condone the woman's sin, but I want the man to receive equal if not greater condemnation. For the girl is sinning against a woman whom she does not know and has no particular reason to love, while the man is sinning against a woman whom he promised to cherish and love until "death us do part," and who is probably the mother of his children.

Loyalty to any abstract thing is almost always stronger in men. Patriotism, loyalty to a business, and even devotion to a place is a more powerful motive in a man than a woman. Perhaps this is why we are so painfully lacking in sex loyalty.

I wish women could cultivate that quality. I often hear women deliberately slandering their own sex in favor of the other, saying, for instance, that they think men are more moral and clever, etc., and I am ashamed of them. When women respect their own sex more, it will be more respected. When women are willing to judge the sin of man and woman alike, and, mind you, I don't mean too leniently—just alike—this double standard of morality against which we so often complain, will begin to totter.

This white Neopolitan hat is one of fashion's very latest creations. The crown is covered with rare silk figured in the delicate shades of pink and green, the pompon being of pink roses, with green leaves, being the ruling style for these hats.

Cause of Faintness.

Fainting is a loss of consciousness due to the diminution of blood supply to the brain. It occurs most frequently in weak, sensitive women, but may occur also to men as well. It usually occurs in crowds or in crowded halls, theaters and churches where the atmosphere is close and the air foul.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Several Jogs to the Memory When House Cleaning Time Comes.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

Just what to do when some little repairs are needed does not always come to mind at the right moment and a few hints are given today along this line.

A good home cleaning fluid to use on clothing will sometimes save paying a professional cleaner. Buy a few ounces of soap bark at the drugstore and steep one-third of a cup of the bark in two cups of water for several hours then strain through cheesecloth. Sponge the cloth with this liquid and press lightly. Add two tablespoons of alcohol and the fluid will keep it put into a tightly corked bottle. The alcohol will help

In the Cleaning.

Sometimes spots that have been spangled from a wool garment apparently come back. To prevent this be very sure that all of the dust is taken out of the garment before soaping and as a further precaution take out all of whatever kind of solution is used for the soaping even if it be no more than ammonia and water.

Wring a piece of cloth out of clear water, rub the sponged place, rinse and repeat several times.

Brocade silk is often spoiled in the attempt to wash it for it is not always remembered that this sort of silk must be entirely dry when ironed as otherwise it will be spotted. This damage is beyond repair for if the silk is once pressed with the hot iron while damp it is spotted for all time as no subsequent washing and pressing will bring back its beauty.

China silk on the contrary must be slightly damp and the iron must be cooler than for ordinary ironing.

Never rub soap directly onto the silk but make a solution of soap and water; have the water cool and be sparing with the soap. Silk should be rinsed repeatedly until the water is clear then dry it in the shade.

Wash silk stockings in the same way and press lightly with a cool iron.

Chamomile or other washable kid gloves should be washed in a solution made in the proportion of one quart of water, castile soap to make a lather and a teaspoon of household ammonia. This should be lukewarm when the gloves are put in to soak fifteen minutes. Press the gloves between the hands and unless very much soiled do not rub them.

Rinse in cool water softened with a few drops of ammonia, lay in folds of a towel and press out all the water that can be absorbed. Dry in the open air and never by strong heat.

If a waxed floor is discolored on the line where the rug has laid for long time rub the mark with a cloth dipped in turpentine. If some of the wax is removed by the treatment rub on more wax.

When the piano was moved on the floor perhaps a dent was left where it rolled along. This may be removed unless very deep. Lay a cloth wrung from water and doubled several times over the dent and set a hot flat iron on until the cloth is dry when the steam will usually have raised the fibre of the wood. It may be necessary to repeat the steaming once or twice.

For cleaning the white or shiny line that comes after a time on the coat collar apply with a sponge a cleaning fluid made as follows: In a bottle mix one part each of alcohol, benzine and chloroform and add a tablespoon of ammonia.

Soft Water Available Everywhere

Every woman knows the luxury of having soft water at her command, especially for washing clothes, but Nature has denied this luxury to many, especially to those living in cities or in "hard water" countries.

However, every woman can have soft water in her home with little trouble and less expense. The sprinkling of Gold Dust washing powder in the water from your taps or well will make it as soft as the rain water that falls from the clouds. Gold Dust takes out the mineral substances that make the water hard and brings out the greatest cleansing value.

BUYING MOVEMENT SHOWS A REVIVAL

Remnants of 1912 Crop Are Being Gathered in by Dealers Says Edgerton Reporter.

There is apparently quite a little revival of the buying movement of late and the remaining fraction of last season's crop is gradually being absorbed says Edgerton Tobacco Reporter. All grades are sought after and an occasional lot of choice goods brings something near earlier prices, but the bulk of the sales run from 6 to 8 cents. An effort is also being made to fill some orders for export. Martin Kravick sold 50 to 8 & 1/2; Aug. Ratcliff, 30 at 8 & 1/2; Jessie Martin, 60, and Chris Folland 30 at somewhat better figures.

Revolving has been going forward rather slowly during the week on account of the condition of the country roads which are neither wheeling nor sledding. Warehouse handling is proceeding, few concerns having finished the season's pick.

The market for old leaf, while not brisk, furnishes some transactions of a moderate size all the time. E. C. Hopkins has disposed of a 2000 lot of '10 goods the past week to A. S. Flagg. N. Gillan picked up about 1250cs of old and new goods from local packers.

The shipments out of storage reach 577 cases and two carloads from this market to all points for the week. Since last report 42 carloads have been received from outside points for warehouse handling in this market.

PHILOTAXIAN SOCIETY HELD REGULAR MEETING THURSDAY

Program Scheduled Study of Dickens by the Members.

The Philotaxian girls held their regular meeting after school yesterday afternoon. The program was about Dickens the eminent English author. Gladys McElhinny told about his wife and Helen Taylor read a selection from Nicholas Nickleby. Minnie McGill recited an original tragedy. Vista Bradley read a second installment of the serial story, which promises to be very interesting.

After ten minutes of parliamentary drill, the meeting adjourned.

BELOIT TEAM WINS DEBATE LAST NIGHT

New System of Scoring Causes Janesville to Lose.—McArthur, Local Leader, Chosen Best Speaker.

(Copyrighted 1912 by W. T. Foster.)

Janesville's high school debating team, heretofore undefeated, lost out in the contest with the Beloit high school team in the final contest at the Beloit college chapel last evening. A new system of counting, by which oratory and delivery, as well as argument, were given equal consideration, was one of the causes for the defeat as the Beloit speakers were more oratorical and received thirty-three points to Janesville's thirty.

Glenne McArthur, leader of the Janesville team, was declared the best speaker, however, being several points ahead of Elmer Stone of Beloit, both as to argument and delivery.

The question discussed was the same which has been debated numerous times this season in the interscholastic contests held under the auspices of the public speaking department of Beloit college. Janesville upheld the negative side of the proposition, "That insofar as Illinois and Wisconsin are concerned women should be granted equal suffrage with men."

The Janesville team was composed of Louis French, first speaker, Stanley Judd, second speaker, and Glenne McArthur, third speaker and leader. It was generally conceded that the Janesville team had the best of the argument in the question, but lacked the forceful delivery which characterized the Beloit speakers.

Beloit's side of the question was supported by Elmer Stone, first speaker; Lowey Moore, second speaker; and Theodore Lipman, third speaker.

They gave the prevailing arguments in favor of woman's suffrage.

Beloit's victory was heralded with thunderous applause and the chapel bell was rung to proclaim the news to the townpeople. The judges of the contest were: Professor S. L. Ware and R. S. Beacher, of the University of Wisconsin and Professor R. C. Chaplin, of Beloit college. Professor C. O. Crawford was the presiding officer.

APRIL TO BE WARM AFTER FIRST WEEK

With Exception of First Week, Next Month Weather Will be Exceptionally Warm, Say Foster.

(Copyrighted 1912 by W. T. Foster.)

Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continents March 22 to 25, warm wave 21 to 25, cool wave 24 to 28. This storm wave was expected to be of more than average force with most rainfall in southern sections. Temperatures of the two days centered on the warm wave were expected to average colder than usual.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast by close of '28, great central valleys 30' to April 1, eastern sections April 2. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about March 28, great central valleys 30, eastern sections April 1. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about March 31, great central valleys April 2, eastern sections April 4.

Immediately preceding this disturbance a cold wave is expected that will carry frosts further south than usual and the warm wave following will cause higher temperatures than usual. Cold weather will continue through the first week of April and then temperatures will rise more rapidly than the season would indicate, the last half of April being much warmer than usual.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about April 3, cross Pacific slope by close of '4, great central valleys 5 to 7, eastern sections 8. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about April 3, great central valleys 5, eastern sections 7. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about March 5, great central valleys 8, eastern sections 10.

Temperatures of this disturbance will average lower than usual and not much rainfall. The only important feature will be the unusually cool weather. The month of April will average warmer than usual in the eastern and from about to a little below normal in Canada.

Rainfall of April will be very much scattered and uneven. From Manitoba, Kansas to Albany, New York, in a wide strip, rainfall will generally be above normal, while a few places in that strip will have a deficiency in moisture. In most of the cotton belt rainfall will be deficient, but near the Gulf coast and in Cuba more than usual rain is expected. For Canada the rainfall will be much varied but generally below the normal for April.

But nearly all northern sections are well supplied with moisture as the soil was generally wet when frozen just fast. Spring wheat should be sown as to mature by Sept. 10, about that time frosts are expected.

I advise planters to put cotton only on low or flat land this year, as a general rule. This will not suit all parts of the cotton belt but it will be the best as a general rule. In fact most parts of the cotton belt would better plant and sow only such crops as will mature early.

As I see the 1912 crop weather it will go to extremes more than once. Now very dry, now very wet. These conditions will be pointed out in these bulletins as we come to the month.

If our United States and Canadian weather bureaus were in possession of this weather forecast system the calculations could be given to everyone a year or more in advance time. I am doing the best I can with the force at my command. To give best results ten times the force I have should be employed. I have five clerks. The United States Weather has over a hundred.

THE CONSANGUINITY OF THE HUMAN RACE

God Determined In Advance the Bounds of the Nations.

Pastor Russell Finds Great Changes Imminent Amongst the People of the World—The Barriers of Language Yielding Because of the Approach of the Divinely Appointed Times.

London, March 17.—London Tabernacle was crowded today to greet Pastor Russell. Behind him on the rostrum were the six other members of the Foreign Mission Investigation Committee, viz., Gen. W. P. Hall, United States Army; Prof. F. H. Robinson, Dr. L. W. Jones, Mr. J. T. D. Pyle, Mr. E. W. Kuehn and Mr. R. B. Maxwell, all of the United States.

His text was: "God hath made of one blood all nations of men, to dwell upon the face of the earth; and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitations, that they should seek the Lord, if haply they might be saved; but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened" —because of the "debt" and the Kingdom which they will establish, that "time of trouble" will be cut short. Dan. xii. 1; Matt. xxiv. 21, 22.

My text is taken from Saint Paul's address to the Athenians, whom he found so religious that they had erected an idol to every known deity, and then one prominently, "to the unknown God." The words of my text have been repeatedly borne in upon my mind in my sojournings of the past four months. I marveled as I perceived the thoroughness of the division of the human family as a result of the confusion of language.

Conditions Now Changing.

It should not surprise us to find at this time great changes inimical amongst the peoples of the whole world. The bounds of human habitation and the barriers of language are rapidly yielding because of the times of Divine appointment which have been reached, the period mentioned in Daniel's prophecy as "The Time of the End." (Daniel xii. 4.) And here we must remind you afresh that The Time of the End does not mean the end of time. It merely signifies the time for the ending of the present order of things, that a New Order, the Messianic Kingdom, may be substituted. Twenty-five centuries ago God determined this time and gave us four important proofs by which to identify it.

(1) The first sign of The Time of the End was to be, "Many shall run to and fro." How wonderfully this prophecy is fulfilled before our eyes today! Its fulfillment has been in progress, especially, for fifty years, and it is less than eighty years since the first locomotive was built. The nations, first separated by diverse languages, have kept well within the bounds of their habitations until now; suddenly we have a running to and fro in fulfillment of this prophecy which is amazing! The various nations and languages are being scattered all over the earth.

(2) The next step in the prophecy marking The Time of the End of this Age is, "Knowledge shall be increased." The general increase of education amongst all classes is logical result of the conninging of humanity and the lessons of comparison and competition being learned. Suddenly, as though in obedience to the Divine command, nation after nation has made school-going free, and more have made comparatively and this spirit is spreading to Oriental lands. The whole world is waking up. Personal rights and human rights are everywhere being discussed. The schools of India are said to be turning out a million graduates in the English language every year. The Chinese are also introducing English schools. What will be the results? Enlightenment? Yes! Godliness? No! Contentment? No! Discontent, war, strife, anarchy, are coming to the world by leaps and bounds, as a result of general education and the breath of liberty, because not backed by reverence for God and His will.

These Days Will Be Shortened.

(3) The third item indicative of The Time of the End of this Age is: "The wise shall understand," not the world-wide, but those who toward God, And so we find it today. While the great and the learned and the masses are rapidly drifting into boundless darkness, away from the light, God's saints, few of every nation and denomination, are gradually seeing more clearly the teachings of the Scriptures. As a result of the fulfillments of Nos. 1 and 2, we see nearing us, portentously, No. 4: "There shall be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation." That time of trouble is now looming up on the horizon of every nation. It comes in the wake of an unanticipated knowledge, it would mean the utter wreck of all civilization were it not for the later position of the Kingdom of God's dear Son, for which we have long waited and prayed, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as in heaven." Our Lord, speaking of this trouble, declared, "Unless those days were shortened, there should no flesh be saved; but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened" —because of the "debt" and the Kingdom which they will establish, that "time of trouble" will be cut short.

BUSINESS MEN ARE MUCH INTERESTED

Purchase of the West Side Rink Now Seems Assured.—Means Much
For the City.

That Janesville is to own a hall large enough for convention gatherings, for public meetings, holding of exhibits and other public entertainments, now seems an assured fact.

Secretary E. E. Lane of the Commercial Club, who has been working for the past few days in raising the funds necessary to assure the purchase of the building, reports that he is meeting with considerable success and that while a good portion of the money needed yet remains to be subscribed, still enough has been promised to assure the purchase of the building.

A local contractor who inspected the building stated that it would take but a very little outlay to make it modern and up-to-date in every respect. The floor is exceptionally good, being one of the best roller skating floors in the country. It was carefully laid when the building was constructed and is in excellent condition. There is plenty of room to build a small raised platform at the end of the hall proper, if desired, which would not interfere with the floor space at all, yet give ample room for a band stand and other uses it might be put to. The interior could be improved at small expense with paint and slight remodeling, making the side rooms suitable for offices, dressing rooms or whatever use they might be put to. The ground itself is very valuable and will increase in value as the city grows. It is centrally located and can be easily reached from all parts of the city in a few minutes walk. Under the management of a holding company it will be utilized more than it has been in the past, the rentals easily covering the repairs, taxes and upkeep of the building. It is a fine thing to have such a hall assured the citizens and Mr. Lane expects to be able to report the stock is all subscribed within a few days.

HOWE'S PICTURES.

The recent order of the French government that all aeroplanes must be equipped with a fog horn has been supplemented by the police with an instruction that aviators must have a game license if an experience of a few weeks ago is repeated.

A sportman was perched in front of a biplane and from a position in the rear of the machine moving pictures of the killing of bear and prairie were made.

The hunting expedition, first of its kind, was remarkably successful as the fawn swooped down on their prey from a high altitude.

The pictures, which Lyman H. Howe is exhibiting in America, show each important incident of the hunt, an amusing part of which is the action of a gendarme impaling upon a bird-men stopping so that he may inspect their apparatus.

Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival will be at Myers Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26 and 27, matinee Wednesday, March 27.

E. H. SOTHERN HAS BACKSLIDED.

E. H. Sothern, who will shortly appear here with Julia Marlowe in Shakespearean repertoire, has backslid. In his late article on the Bacon-Shakespearean controversy, which he now refers to as the "Incontrovery," promised not to refer to the Baconians as maniacs. However, in a late interview in Boston, Mr.

Sothern refers to the Baconians as being "Baconians." This is rather rough on the Baconians.

ROSALAND AT REDGATE.

Few dramatized novels have proved as popular as "Rosaland at Redgate," the latest story by Meredith Nicholson to be dramatized. The novel has been made into a play by George Middleton, who is responsible for the dramatic version of "The House of a Thousand Candles," and the new play is said to be just as interesting and mysterious as its predecessor.

The production was staged under the personal direction of Edward E. Rose, who, next, to David Belasco, is considered America's greatest stage director. It is said of Mr. Rose that out of eighteen plays staged last season, not one proved a failure.

"Rosaland at Redgate" is said by the critics to be the best of all dramatized novels, and a credit to Mr.

Rose's direction. It will be the offering at the Myers Theatre on Thursday March 28.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

SPRING FEVER.

By Howard L. Rann.

Spring fever is a debilitating affliction which attacks people right at the opening of the baseball season. It is one of the most exasperating ailments in all materia medica, as it renders a man totally unfit for any kind of work except keeping track of the baseballs.

The eyeball of some men is so seriously impaired
by this disease that they can't see the woods in the garden or tell the lawn mower
from a reclining chair. It takes about six weeks
for this fever to run its course,
and during its progress the patient goes around in a very flabby
state of mental negligence. Some people never recover from an attack before another comes on, while others have it the year around, with so much success that they have to put in overtime at double pay in order to catch up with the day book. Spring fever has baffled the medical profession more than the cause of the Jumps, sprain, rheumatism, and physicians are frequently puzzled to know whether a man has come down with it or is suffering from a constitutional inherited and protoplasmic prejudice against work in any form. The variety of male ills known as the gymn hobo has the most virulent type of spring fever known to the human race, and the sight of a woodpile will bring on a relapse, which renders him totally incapable of coping with a snowbank in any extended number of days. Spring fever breaks out on most people Sunday morning, just as the glad tones of the church bell ring through the seductive appearance of the golf stick. The only cure for this disease is to get close to nature's heart in a kind hunting suit, and return with a bright array of mosquito bites and red ant stings. This is a better tonic than running over somebody in an automobile, and is less costly.

HARD LUCK

STORIES

All my friends are sick and ailing and they come to me a-wailing of their woes and tribulations just as though I was to blame; one is driven to frenzy with a case of influenza, and some other dire disease rolls through his weak frame. Old man Quincebush is havin' lots of trouble with a sprain and his rheumy bent him sorely when the weather's cool and wet;
through old Quigway's tempestuous meanders every symptom of the chandlers, and it really rends my heartstrings when I see him fuss and fret. One has got complaint, catarrh and he lays down by the barrel and he'd have me stand and baton to the steaming bathtub; one's broke out in reddish pustules, one has got the tickling scratches, one has got rheumatic jitters, one has got ingrowing nails. So they bore me with descriptions of their spasms and convulsions, and they don't give me look in when I'd spring a private groan; little care I what befall them for I'm suffering to tell them all about theitty-seven rare diseases of my own.

Wake Up With a "Dark Brown Taste?"

Get Rid of It! Run for OLIVE TABLETS

There isn't the slightest need to wake up any morning with a "brown mouth." Ugh! No need to describe it!

Dr. Edwards has made "brown mouth" a thing of the past in thousands of homes with his little Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Anyone who takes Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets the moment his appetite has his liver and bowels, never has a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a pimply face, constipation or any other form of bowel or liver disorder.

Take one just the moment you suspect you are constipated or that your liver is out of order.

Thousands take one at bedtime every night just to keep the bowels regular, the liver in order, the mouth clean and the breath pure and sweet.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent 17 years in practice and in laboratory experiments before he perfected Olive Tablets.

Why don't you try them? Instead of the severe kind of laxatives that grip and only effect temporary relief?

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

THE WAY OF A MAN

By EMERSON HOUGH

Copyright, 1911, by the Century Publishing Company

And I took her hands in mine, "I can endure it no longer," I said, "I will not endure it."

She looked at me with her eyes wide, looked me full in the face with such a gaze as I have never seen on any woman's face.

"I love you," I said to her. "I have never loved any one else, I can never love any one again but you."

I say that I, John Cowles, had at that moment utterly forgotten all of life and all of the world except this then and there, "I love you!" I said over and over again to her.

She pushed away my arm, "They are all the same," she said as though to herself.

"Yes, all the same," I said. "There is no man who would not love you, here or anywhere."

"To how many have you said that?" she asked me, frowning.

"To some," I said to her honestly. "But it was never thus."

She curled her lip, scorning the truth which she had asked now that she had it. "And if any other woman were here it would be the same. It is because I am here, because we are alone, because I am a woman—ah, that is neither wise nor brave nor good of you!"

"That is not true. Were it any other woman, yes, what you say might be true in one way. But I love you not because you are a woman. It is because you are Ellen. You would be the only woman in the world, no matter where we were nor how many were about us. Though I could choose from all the world, it would be the same."

"It is the old story," she sighed.

"Yes, the old story," I said. "It is the same story, the old one. There are the witnesses, the hills, the sky."

"You seem to have thought of such things," she said to me slowly. "I have not thought. I have simply lived all, enjoying life, not thinking. Do we love because we are but creatures? I cannot be loved so—I will not be!"

"I will not submit that what I have sometimes dreamed shall be so parroted on this. John Cowles, a woman must be loved for herself, not for her sex, by some one who is a man, but who is best!"

"Then," said I, "we should have to live here forever and ever."

She looked at me curiously. "Could we?" she asked.

"Until I was too old to hunt, you too weak to sew the robes or cook the food."

"What would happen then?"

"We would die," said I. "The world would end, would have to begin all over again and wait twice ten million years until man again was evolved from the amoeba, the reptile, the ape. When we died this dog here would be the only hope of the world."

It was understood that we should stay here for at least two days, to mend our clothing and prepare food for the southern journey. The next day she came to me as I sat by our meager fireside. Without leading of mine she began a manner of speech until now foreign to her.

"What be marriage, John Cowles?" she asked of me, abruptly, with no preface.

"It is the plan," I answered apathetically. She pondered for a time.

"Are we, then, only creatures, puppets, toys?"

"And again you forget me."

"And again what made me forget you was yourself. Each time you were that other girl, that other woman. Each time I have seen you you have been different, and each time I have loved you over again. Each day I see you now you are different, Ellen, and each day I love you more. How many times shall I solve this same problem and come to the same answer. I tell you this thing is ended and done for me."

"It is easy to think so here, with only the hills and skies to see and hear."

"No, it would be the same," I said. "It is not because of that."

"It is not because I am in your power," she said. She turned and faced me, her hands on my shoulders, looking me full in the eye. The act awoke me.

"Because I am in your power, John Cowles?" she asked. "Because by accident you have learned that I am a comely woman, no you are a strong man, normal, because I am fit to love, not ill to look at? Because a cruel accident has put me where my name is jeopardized forever—in a situation out of which I can never, never come clean again—is that why? Do you figure that I am a woman because you are a man? Is that why? Is it because you know I am human and young and fit for love? Ah, I know that us well as you. But I am in your hands; I am in your power. That is why I say, John Cowles, that you must try to think, that you must do nothing which shall make me hate you or make you hate yourself?"

"I thought you missed me when I was gone," I marmured faintly.

"I did miss you," she said. "The world seemed ended for me. I needed you, I wanted you!" I turned toward her swiftly. "Wanted me?"

"I was glad to see you come back. While you were gone I thought, Yes, you have been brave, and you have been kind, and you have been strong. Now, I am only asking you still to be brave and kind and strong."

"But do you love me, will you love me—me you?"

"Because we are here," she said. "I will not answer. What is right, John Cowles, that we should do?"

CURIOUS PROBLEMS FOR COUNTY CLERKS

SECRETARY OF STATE FEAR'S
COPY FOR CANDIDATES SAID TO BE FAULTY.

CONCERN FOR THE TICKET

However County Clerk Lee States He Will Follow the Primary Law and Ignore Directions.

County clerks throughout the state are in a quandary as to what to do relative to the printing of the names of the delegates to the national republican, democratic and prohibition conventions. According to copy sent out by Secretary of State Fear, the name Wilson appears under the names of the Wilson delegates, and the name La Follette under that of the La Follette delegates. The Clark democratic and the Taft republican delegates are without any such designation.

County Clerk Lee is inclined to entirely ignore the directions of the secretary of state and follow the rulings of the primary law. He had a similar experience when former Secretary of State Homer was in office and took the matter up with him and then followed the primary law as laid down in the revised statutes and the election laws. Milwaukee is also much excited over the situation and the Milwaukee press is in arms about it and demands that the coming special session of the legislature straighten out the tangle.

Must Take Action.

One of the special uncertainties in the primary election laws is to clear up which, among other things, a special session of the legislature has been called, relates, as the governor has explained, to the selection of national convention delegates.

Under the circumstances it is not surprising that among the enactments which, it is noted, the special session shall make is the validation of elections on April 2, whether or not they comply with the laws, the meaning of which is in such doubt that no one can possibly comply with them.

To Demand a Ruling.

In this uncertain and confusing condition of the situation it has been said that the managers of the various presidential ticket candidates had gone ahead and done what they could to meet the dilemma and it was thought that this action on their part might solve the difficulty as nearly as it is possible to solve it.

The manager of one of the democratic presidential delegation tickets, however, said yesterday that the uncertainty was so great that he would demand a ruling as to the validity of naming on the presidential delegate ticket the candidates for whom the delegates would vote. Whether he will appeal to the secretary of state, the attorney general or to the courts he did not say.

The Candal Problem.

The problem is to get the names of the delegates supporting the various presidential candidates, democratic and republican, on the ticket in a manner that will comply with the law and at the same time permit the voter to cast his ballot for delegates representing his choice for the presidential nomination. Here is an illustration of the delegate ballot as proposed, giving only one name as a sample.

Delegates-at-large.

Republican,	Democrat,
John Doe,	John Bennett,
La Follette Del.	Wilson Del.

Violates Primary Law.

Under the names of the La Follette candidates for delegates the words "La Follette candidate" appear on the ballot, while under the names of the Wilson candidates the words "Wilson candidates" are printed. Under the name of the plain republican and democratic candidates nothing appears. The ballot for the presidential primary will be printed from these lists.

According to opinions obtained by party managers the printing of a specified statement with a candidate's name; that is, the printing of the presidential candidate's name with the name of the candidate for a presidential delegate, is plainly a violation of the primary law and one of the managers of a democratic presidential delegate ticket is now seeking an authoritative opinion on the subject.

Should this view be sustained, the ballots must be reprinted and there is hardly time enough for that.

Statement of Purpose, Not Principle.

The primary law allows the candidate to state his principles in five words under his name on the ballot, but the placing of the names of the presidential candidates would not be the statement of principle, but rather of purpose, according to politicians.

"There is no doubt that the ballot as proposed is directly in opposition to the primary law," said a lawyer, "but I do not want to be quoted. This is the duty of the attorney general, and I presume he will render a prompt opinion as the time is now short."

Gymnasts After Titles.

Haverford, Pa., March 22.—Star gymnasts from Yale, Columbia, Princeton, Pennsylvania and several other of the big eastern colleges assembled at Haverford College here today to compete for the championships of the Intercollegiate Gymnastic Association. The events on the program include the flying, rings, horizontal bar, rope, climbing, side horse, Indian club, swinging, parallel bars, tumbling and long horse.

Women May Decide Issue.

Santa Cruz, Cal., March 22.—Arrangements have been completed for holding a special election in this city tomorrow to vote on the expenditure of $842,000 for school improvements. More than ordinary interest attaches to the election, as women will be qualified to vote for the first time here. The registration of the fair sex is heavy and the result of the election probably will depend on their judgment.

Real Wisdom.

It is far better to pluck a rose in a man's hand than to send twenty wreaths to his funeral.—E. H. Stanley.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

A WOMAN'S PHILOSOPHY.

Ruth Cameron, the writer, tells the story of a mother who was successful in getting her children to do things properly by making the right way the easiest.

This is the story:

The mother formerly kept the children's rubbers and overshirts upstairs in their own closets, so they would not get mixed. All the time, she says, she was bothered by finding them all over the house. She kept saying:

"Habby, why didn't you take your rubbers upstairs?"

"Little, this is the second time this week I've had to stumble over your overshirts."

She thought much about the matter and finally concluded she would make it easier for the children to be orderly. The father made a box for the whole family, with a little compartment for each one. She put it in the back hall. And that solved the problem.

Simple? But effective. It confirmed the children in orderly habits, saved friction and wear and tear on nerves. Again:

The mother had made a rule that when the children, girls and boys, should enter the kitchen they must put on aprons in order to save their clothes. The girls kept their aprons in their rooms, and the boys used mother's.

The rule was often broken.

The children would be in a hurry or would forget, and oftentimes their clothes would be soiled.

Plainly the father put up five hooks in the kitchen entry, one for each.

Said the mother, "You wouldn't believe the time in cleaning clothes I have saved."

Her philosophy was the sort styled "pragmatic." It worked.

All of us are children larger grown, and we often shirk doing a thing because it is not easy.

If you had a condensed dictionary on your desk you would look up the meaning of that word. You have none, and because the big dictionary is hard to get at you let it go.

Or you eat at the poorer restaurant because the better one is further up street.

Human like to follow the line of least resistance. Indeed, the problem of government is the problem of making right doing easy.

Do not blame the children too much until you have made it easy for them to do the right thing.

SAMUEL MILLER

FINDS FATHER IN SLAYER'S CELL

San Francisco.—One of the most affecting scenes ever witnessed in the city prison took place when Harry Miller of San Francisco entered the cell of Samuel Miller, who is under sentence of death in Tennessee for wife murder, and cried out that the prisoner was his father.

Harry Miller, who is 26 years old and a tailor in San Francisco, saw a picture of Samuel Miller in a local paper. The picture resembled that of his father, and he crossed the bay to see the condemned slayer, who was captured after a nine-years' hunt following his escape from a Tennessee prison.

Miller was taken to the cell. The prisoner was seated in a corner, with his head in his hands. On hearing footsteps he looked up and stared at Miller Jorgenson and the young man with him, without showing any signs of recognition. Young Miller peered into the cell for a moment as if to make sure, and then exclaimed, "Father."

The prisoner rose and approached the cell door.

"Why, it's Harry!" he said. "My son, my son!"

The cell door was opened by Jorgenson, and young Miller walked in and embraced his father, the two men remaining with their arms about each other for several minutes, while tears streamed down their cheeks.

Church Maintained Theater.

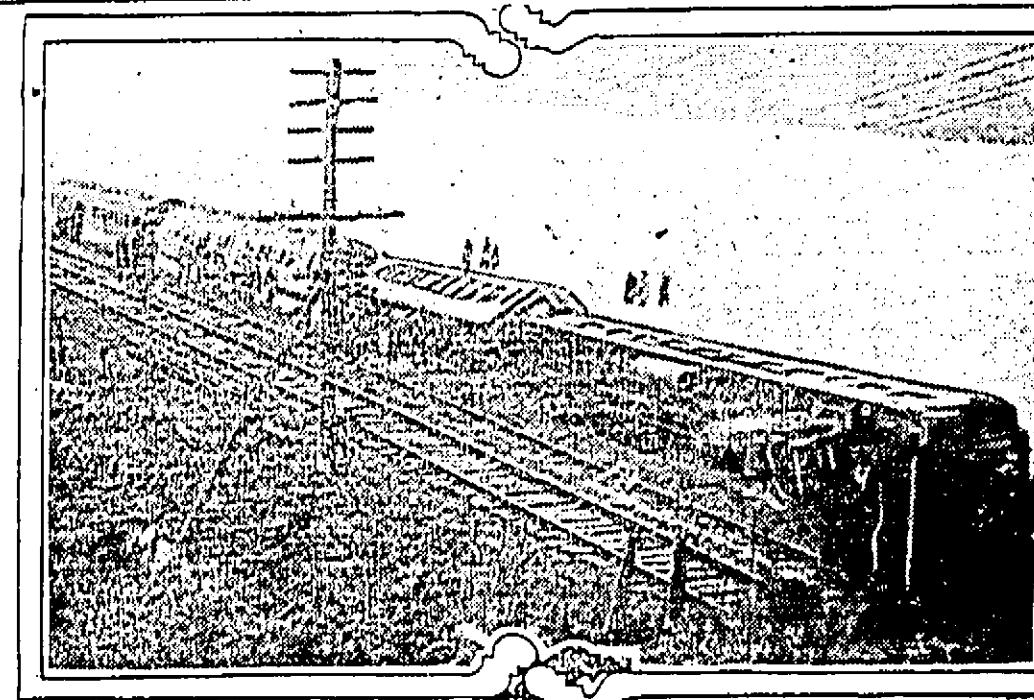

St. Paul's cathedral in London actually maintained a theater during the reign of Elizabeth and the first years of the reign of James I. An adjacent building was used as a theater, and the actors were the boys of the choir. The company presented many of the most important plays of the time.

Much in Little.

"What is your member of Congress noted for?" "Well," answered Farmer Corntassel, "around here he's mostly noted for arguments that won't come up."

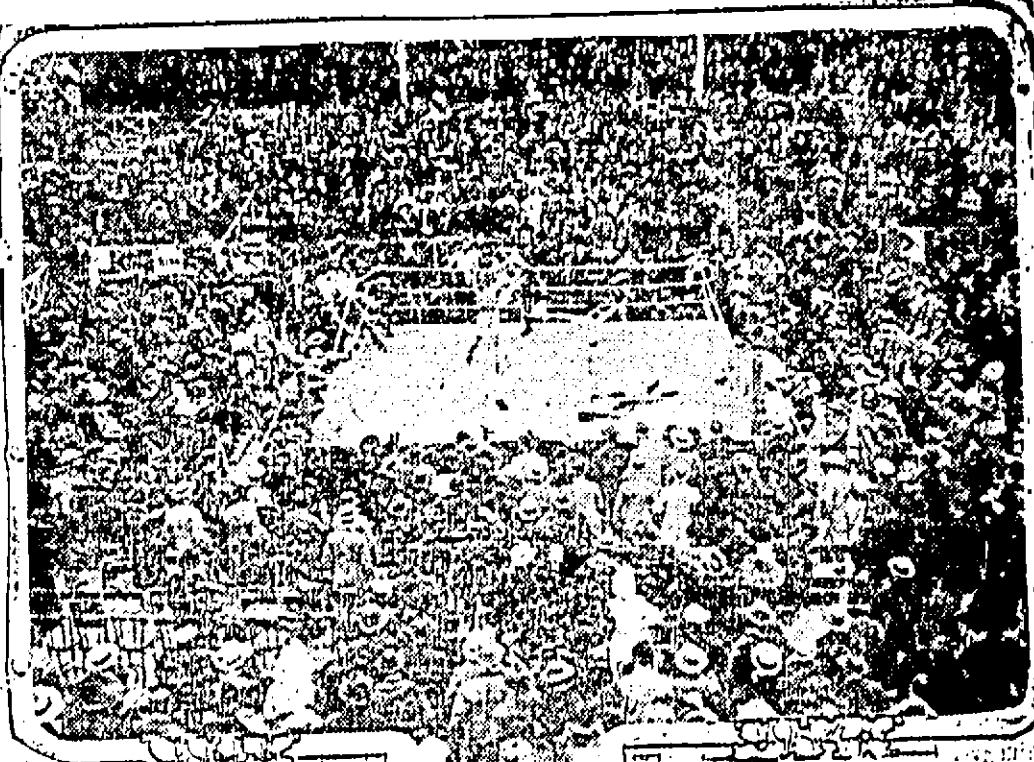

Do not blame the children too much until you have made it easy for them to do the right thing.
